FTI Consulting offers a network of highly qualified and experienced professionals in the petroleum and chemicals industry. We specialize in addressing complex problems through the application of fundamental technical principles. Our experts and professionals typically hold engineering and business degrees with decades of significant industry, litigation, and consulting experience.

Our petroleum and chemicals experts and professionals are veterans in engineering disciplines and business, many with more than 30 years experience in industry and consulting. Our experts have held various technical and senior management positions in these industries and have the practical experience that is crucial in today's business environment.

We provide our clients with independent, objective and thorough analyses of the challenges facing our clients in today's complex environment. We often work with other highly credentialed and experienced FTI Consulting specialists in economics and finance, as well as other disciplines such as accounting, marketing, and environmental management. The mix of academia, business, and technical expertise of our experts provides a unique breadth of experience to address the issues facing the petroleum and chemical industries. In addition to our capabilities in litigation and arbitration, which include all forms of contract disputes and associated damages analysis, we offer a full range of business and consulting services including project evaluation, merger and acquisition support, techno-economic evaluations, technology management and strategic planning.

PROCESS INDUSTRY

Our expertise in process industries includes petroleum refining, petrochemicals, commodity, specialty and performance chemicals, polymers and plastics, engineering resins, alternative fuels, gas processing, logistics, and transportation systems. Skilled application of fundamental technical principles is essential to addressing the complex issues facing clients. Our petroleum and chemicals experts have extensive experience on both a domestic and global basis.

LITIGATION SUPPORT/DISPUTE RESOLUTION

FTI Consulting experts address matters involving technical and scientific, as well as commercial issues. The broad technical and commercial expertise of our professionals is critical to providing authoritative studies that meet the rigorous standards required by courts. We provide both unique personal perspective and the capacity to express and illustrate our opinions that is crucial to effective communication in a litigation environment. Due to our reputation for objective analysis, expert testimony and litigation support, FTI Consulting experts have been appointed as independent arbitrators and neutrals in a number of cases in a variety of forums.

BUSINESS CONSULTING & STRATEGIC PLANNING

Our experts are seasoned industry veterans in strategic planning and have formerly led this activity at industry consultancies. Our approach relies heavily on this wealth of experience rather than starting each assignment with a blank sheet of paper.

ANTITRUST

FTI Consulting offers a complete range of antitrust litigation services for the petroleum and chemical industry. We identify key issues, apply appropriate economic and financial theories, and use empirical techniques to develop independent and objective analyses and opinions. FTI Consulting experts frequently testify on matters such as antitrust liability, damages quantification, and complex merger filings before antitrust regulatory agencies throughout the world.

GOVERNMENTAL REGULATION & COMPLIANCE

The complex technical, commercial, and political issues in governmental regulation and compliance requires expertise and sound technical skills to avoid potential noncompliance. Our experienced professionals provide guidance for regulation and regulatory compliance throughout facility life cycles as well as expertise applicable to making proposed regulations technically sound, more acceptable, and understandable.

BANKING AND FINANCE

We have extensive experience in all phases of capital projects. We know how to discern important trends, identify inconsistencies, evaluate variance impacts, and provide guidance on the project horizon, in order to address our clients' concerns regarding financial and other covenant compliance. Our services are available from project inception through final acceptance.

Critical thinking at the critical time™
